

Out-of-State Job and Internship Searches

This may take longer than a standard job search if you can't live in your target city, so plan to begin this search process 6-9 months in advance of graduation.

Plan to visit your target city during breaks & vacations to do in-person networking, informational interviews, etc.

Identify major universities/colleges in your target city. Check online to see if you can access their job & internship listings.

Identify potential employers in your target state/city

Research websites of large corporations to learn about their different locations.

Contact the Chamber of Commerce in your target city.

If possible, attend Young Professionals Groups Chamber meetings/events.

Reference USA (www.Referenceusa.com) is a directory, searchable by geographic location, industry and size

Use Idealist (www.idealist.org) to research U.S. and global not-for-profit organizations

Identify Job/Career Fairs open to the public in your target city. Many are held in winter or spring, use Google and newspapers to search.

Utilize the UST Alumni Association Mentor Program. Develop your network. They may be able to connect you with out-of-state companies/contacts.

Campus resources

Many employers recruiting on campus have locations all over the country. Connect with them.

Social Media

Utilize UST's LinkedIn Group ASK to connect with alumni willing to offer advice, informational interviews, job shadows.

Within your LinkedIn Summary, you can add a note, "Seeking _____ position in [City, State] – any connections welcome."

Participate in LinkedIn Groups and their Discussion boards to let members know of your interests.
